Magnus Andersson, PhD
Senior Lecturer
Department of Urban Studies
Malmö University

Assessing Urban Expansion of Istanbul 2000-2013

Monday, September 14, 2015

19:00

Magnus Andersson is currently Senior Lecturer in Urban Economics and Statistics at Malmö University. He has been teaching at many different universities and his research is related to development of methods to estimate and measure economic growth and urban development using satellite images.

The lecture will provide an overview of the present urban expansion in Istanbul, covering changes from 2000 to 2013 using satellite images, and to map the change in the urban landscape by locating high and low growth municipalities in the city. Secondly, the lecture will discuss possible factors determining and explaining the unique spatial patterns of the present.

For attendance, registration at helins@sri.org.tr is necessary
