Ethnographic research on historical knowledge in Kyrgyzstan

23 November kl 18:00

Medelhavsmuséet
Stockholm

Nathan Light earned his PhD in Folklore and Anthropology from Indiana University in 1998. Since 2013 he has been teaching Central Asian history and culture at Uppsala University, where he conducts research in Central Asian history, social organization, cultural politics, economics, and language. In this lecture, he will review recent work in the anthropology of history, ethnographies of Central Asian historical knowledge, discuss how key theoretical issues can be resolved through a broader analytical framework, and present materials from his own ethnography in Kyrgyzstan.
